REPULSE STRONG TEUTON ATTACKS

French Check Enemy in Region of Verdun.

FALL BACK ON HEAVY GUNS

German Artillery Resumes Heavy Shelling of Several Positions in Preparation for Another Attack—Revolt in Dublin Seems to Have Completely Collapsed.

London, May 2.—The repulse by the French of powerful German attacks around Dead Man's Hill and counter attacks to the north of Cumieres, has again been followed by heavy German bombardment of these sectors and a continuation of the shelling of Cote du Poivre and Douaumont, northeast of the fortress. No fresh infantry attacks have been launched by the Germans.

The usual bombardments are in progress on the Austro-Italian front. Gorizia again has come under the heavy fire of the Italians. In the Adamello zone, the Italians are on the offensive against the Austrians at Toppo Pass.

Paris reports that on the Greek frontier there have been frequent, but unimportant skirmishes between entente allies and German-Bulgarian forces.

ALL DUBLIN REBELS ABANDON STRUGGLE

London, May 2.—Dublin is almost normal following the surrender of all rebels in the Irish capital.

Revolters in the country districts are laying down their arms rapidly, according to an official statement issued by the British press bureau. The statement follows:

"All the rebels in Dublin have surrendered and the city is reported quite safe. The rebels in the country districts are surrendering to the mobile columns.

"During the night of April 29-May 1 the rebels in Ennis-corthy made an offer to surrender their leaders and arms on condition that the rank and file be allowed to return to their homes. They were informed that the only terms that could be entertained were unconditional surrender. These terms were accepted by them. It was reported later that the rebels were surrendering on these terms.

"Wicklow, Arklow, Dunlavin, Baginbun and New Ross and the counties of Cork, Clare, Limerick and Kerry are generally quiet. The whole of Ulster is quiet."

5,300,000 SUBSCRIBE TO GERMANY'S LOAN

Berlin, May 2.—At a meeting of the central committee of the Reichsbank, Rudolph Havenstein, president of the bank, reported that the number of individual subscriptions to the fourth war loan was 5,300,000, as compared with 1,002,000 for the first war loan.

The number of subscriptions for sums amounting to less than 2,000 marks ($500) was nearly 5,000,000, as against 900,000 in the case of the first loan.

Pupils of 500 high schools subscribed 47,000,000 marks. In 680 boys' schools 17,000,000 marks was subscribed. Pupils of 311 Berlin schools of the lower grades raised 1,000,000 marks.

President Havenstein spoke of the decreasing part played by the loan banks. Of the first installment on the first war loan 22 per cent was paid with the aid of the loan banks.

These banks financed only 6 1/2 per cent for the third and 4 1/2 for the fourth loan.

Up to April 27, 8,348,000,000 marks had been paid in on the new loan, of which only 396,000,000 marks was borrowed from loan banks.

MUCH DEPENDS UPON CARRANZA

Americans Are Prepared to Invade Mexico in Force.

ORDER MUST BE RESTORED

Administration Will Take Such Steps
as May Be Necessary for the Establishment of a Stable Government in the Southern Republic.

Washington, May 2.—If Carranza authorities attempt to back up any threats they have made following President Wilson's decision to keep the troops in Mexico the administration is prepared to invade in force the Southern republic.

The administration is prepared to take such other steps as may be necessary for the establishment of a stable government in Mexico.

On high official authority it may be stated that President Wilson has no intention of withdrawing the troops, however insistent Carranza may prove to be, until the de facto authorities of Mexico have demonstrated in a practical way its ability to control the situation in Northern Mexico and prevent a repetition of the border outrages.

Through two different channels the United States government notified General Carranza that it does not desire at this time to discuss a withdrawal of the American forces from Mexico.

At the direction of President Wilson, Secretary of War Baker so advised General Scott, who is representing the United States in conferences with General Obregon on the border.

After a conference with Secretary Baker and Counselor Polk of the state department Secretary Lansing informed Eliseo Arredondo, Mexican ambassador designate, in response to a pressing inquiry from the latter, that the American government is not in a position to answer General Carranza's former request until the conclusion of the Scott-Oregon conferences.

"There is an increasing suspicion among our people that American troops are remaining in Mexico for some other purpose than to punish the bandits," Arredondo told Mr. Lansing.

Thirty Democrats Join the Solid Re-

Clarke Amendment, Which Had Been Endorsed by President Wilson.

Washington, May 2.—The administration's fight for the senate Philippine bill, with its Clarke amendment authorizing independence for the islands within four years, was lost in the house.

After voting, 212 to 165, to strike out the Clarke amendment, the house, 251 to 177, passed a substitute for the entire measure the Jones bill providing for a greater measure of self-government in the Philippines and carrying a preamble, declaring the intention of the United States to grant independence ultimately, but without fixing a date.

Now the bill goes to conference between the two houses.

Thirty Democrats joined the solid Republican minority in defeating the Clarke amendment, which had been given unqualified endorsement by President Wilson.

POLICE UNABLE TO FIND BANK ROBBERS

St. Paul, May 2.—Police and detectives, led by J. J. O'Connor, chief of police and George Wells, chief of detectives, scoured the city in vain for the bandit who robbed the City bank, 367 West Seventh street.

The bandit rode away in an auto in which an accomplice was waiting.
Every known haunt of men who could be suspected of such a crime was searched by the police. No trace of the pair was found.

The police advanced two theories—that Jay Allen, during bank bandit, may have returned to St. Paul, or "One-Eyed Luke" and his pal may have stayed the latest holdup, resulting in the theft of $3,993.63.

Our Detroit plants are running about 150 cars a day BEHIND ORDERS!

Of course, what's going on in our Detroit plants—our difficulties in keeping up with orders—our being 150 or so cars a day BE-HIND orders even with one of the largest factories in the whole industry—all that makes little difference to you, as we know.
But we do know that the REASON we can't keep up with orders DOES make lots of difference to YOU. For that reason is simply this:

The SERIES 17 Studebakers cost from $250 to $400 LESS than any other cars that give as much. Said in another way, YOU SAVE FROM $250 to $400 by buying a Studebaker.

Now, we don't expect you to say: "That's so" and rush down to buy a car. We only want you to turn that thought over in your mind a couple of times: "$250 to $400 saved by buying a Studebaker"—and then come down and make us PROVE it.

We CAN prove it—either here in our Showrooms or off on the road. We can prove it side by side with any other car you can name—or on the toughest hill in the neighborhood—anywhere and any time you say.

And when you've seen these SERIES 17 Studebakers and know what they offer, THEN go see those other cars and make the salesman tell you WHY they want $250 to $400 more? and WHAT you get for the extra price? and whether it's worth paying that much higher price for nothing more.

See a Studebaker—and save yourself $250 or more.

THE MOZART STUDY CLUB

Liszt's Famous Rakoczy March Will Be Rendered as an Eight Hand Piece

Liszt the famous composer will ever be remembered for his immortal compositions; interpreting the Hungarian Rhapsodies; he has given to us a field in music for study and serious thought.

Two of these compositions will be heard in the program to be given Friday evening by the Mozart Study Club.

Miss Evelyn Erickson

The first will be the famous Rakoczy March; adopted as the national march of Hungary; Liszt's setting of it for the piano is among his most stupendous works. This will be rendered as an eight hand piece; the Misses Evelyn Erickson, Ida Peterson at the first piano and the Misses Lillian Nelson and Gladys Nitterauer at the second piano.

Miss Gadya Nitterauer

The Rhapsodie will be played by four of the members of the club. This selection begins with a slow, gloomy recitative delivered with an expressive dignity. The setting is that of an evening camp fire, the flickering firelight plays upon the picturesque figures grouped about, the thunder mutters sullenly in the distance. Then we hear what doubtless is a love song. Later the crisp music calls the young people to a dance; which gradually increases in speed and brilliancy; till it finally merges in the 'czardas' in which all join, and which is given with the greatest dash and brilliancy.

The Misses Erickson and Nitterauer figure prominently in these numbers, and also is one of Shumann's selections entitled "Andante with Variations Op. 16." This is one of the most finished of Shumann's creations. The people of Brainerd have heard both of these pianists sufficient to know that the fine feeling will be given to entire satisfaction and graceful interpretation need not.

Reference will be made in Wednesday's issue of the Dispatch to some of the others selections and a full program will be published on Thursday.

RECREATIONAL GROUNDS

Minnesota Forestry Association has Been Recognized Leader in Their Development

In a letter to the Chamber of Commerce, L. P. Tierney, chairman of the program committee of the recent Minnesota Forestry association meeting in Minneapolis, said:

"There is an astonishing lack of definite information about Minnesota's recreational grounds. In their development, the Minnesota Forestry association has been the recognized leader. Its officers are convinced that much of the advertising has missed the point either by falling into unproductive channels or because it is too general.

There is need for concerted action on the part of the people in each district and again, concerted action on the part of all the districts. If Minnesota is to have the prosperous summer business which should naturally come here. This kind of business will bring in millions of dollars directly and indirectly many millions more through the establishment of business relations in our big cities."

The Chamber of Commerce was represented at the meeting of the forestry association by its secretary and by W. H. Gemmell.

"Separate organization for most if not all the recreation districts will be effected to bring together data on attractions of each district and get united action on the part of the summer hotels, railroads and commercial clubs for boosting their respective districts. The Forestry association will act as the clearing house for all.

"There are nine fairly well defined districts, the names of which show the approximate location of each: Lake of the Woods, Bowstring Country, North Shore and Boundary Country, Mississippi Headwaters, Lake Park Region, Crow Wing-Mille Lacs, Big Woods Lake Belt, St. Croix White Bear District, Southeastern River District."

Uncle Sam Starts Safety First Exhibit

(By United Press)

Washington, May 2.—Climbing aboard a special 12-car, all-steel train, Uncle Sam started out from Washington today to show his people how he provides "safety first" for them in their food, drink, homes, work and play.

M. F. Leopold of the Bureau of Mines, department of the interior, was in charge of the train, which started out over the lines of the Baltimore and Ohio Southwestern railroad on the first lap of its journey, with Philadelphia as its first destination. The train will first cover the lines of the B. & O. then head westward over other trunk lines.

Exhibits from almost every bureau in the government service were aboard. Models and charts from the public health service, showed how disease is prevented, how food and water are watched over and how working conditions are regulated to safeguard life and health.

Devices with which the Coast Guard Service saves lives and property along the seaboard and on the Great Lakes form another exhibit. Included are model life boats, rapid-firing guns for throwing life lines to ships in distress, the breeches buoy and wireless outfits. Complete exhibits of the bureau of mines of its apparatus for saving lives in the mines are also aboard.

How the forest service of the department of agriculture has minimized the life losses in hitherto great calamities in the vast timberlands is demonstrated. This exhibit also shows how 1,200 towns and cities secure their water supplies from the forests, and what is being done to safeguard and prevent contamination of these water sources.

First-aid-to-the-injured devices and their application are shown under the auspices of the American Red Cross, while the Interstate Commerce Commission has three model cars fully equipped with all known and approved railway safety devices.

Millions of dollars worth of property have been saved by warnings sent out by the weather bureau, it is claimed, and the work of this branch of the department of agriculture, with its apparatus for determining weather conditions, is elaborately shown.

The reclamation service, war and navy departments also are represented.

STATE GEOGRAPHICAL NAMES AND THEIR HISTORICAL SIGNIFICANCE
(Prepared by the Minnesota Historical Society for the United Press)
Grant County
It was General Grant rather than President Grant who was honored in the naming of this county for it was established in 1868, before he was elected to the presidency. Grant visited Minnesota in 1883 on the occasion of the completion of the Northern Pacific Railroad across the continent and took part in the elaborate celebrations held in St. Paul and Minneapolis on September 3 of that year.

H. A. Rider, well known in this city and former executive agent of the Minnesota game and fish commission, filed Monday morning as a candidate for representative in the legislature from Morrison county. Louis W. Vasaly, the present representative from Morrison county, has announced that he will not be a candidate for reelection. Mr. Rider is a resident of Little Falls.

Gov. Burnquist filed for the republican nomination for governor on Monday to succeed himself, and according to the law governing such filing he issued a statement regarding his personal campaign committee. In this statement Gov. Burnquist recited that he had received a letter signed by personal friends who had volunteered their services in forming a volunteer committee to advance his proposed candidacy, and that under the circumstances no campaign committee or manager would be appointed. The volunteer committee has taken up headquarters at the Merchants hotel in St. Paul and James Arneson will be in charge, and the campaign is in good hands. Gov. Burnquist's friends seem to be legion in all parts of the state and his interests are looked after by men who will leave nothing undone to insure his nomination.

Brainerd is honored today by the presence of a distinguished citizen, Frank B. Kellogg, who comes to the city in response to an invitation to address the graduating class of the Northwestern Hospital Training School this evening. Mr. Kellogg's many Brainerd friends offer him a welcome to the city and his reception will be a hearty one. The gentleman is one of the foremost attorneys of the state and has been a prominent figure in Minnesota politics for years, but not as an office holder or candidate. Early in the season he was urged to become a candidate for the United States senate but he declined to announce his candidacy as he did not desire to take part in a fight for the nomination that would result in factional differences that would arise and which have made it possible in the past for democratic governors to be elected in this overwhelmingly strong republican state. However, when the editors of 72 republican newspapers in Minnesota joined in a signed request asking him to permit the filing of his name as a candidate and pledging themselves to making a campaign for him he accepted and he is today a candidate for the republican nomination to that office. Mr. Kellogg is not in Brainerd today on a political mission, but as a private citizen in response to a request for a limited portion of his valuable time before the graduating exercises above mentioned. Brainerd and her citizens welcome him.

NEWSPAPERS HIT HARD

Ever since the momentous August of 1914—especially during the past six months—the skyrocketing of the prices of necessities around a newspaper plant has gone on with a beauty of consistency which arouses absolutely no enthusiasm among publishers throughout the country who have to foot the bills. Products essential to the publication of newspapers have jumped in price all the way from 10 or 15 to 2,000 and more per cent, says the Attica, Ohio, Hub.

War, directly or indirectly, is given as the reason for the enormous increase in the publisher's bills. And as war seems likely to continue for some time, so too the market skyrocketing promises to go to heights even beyond the present astounding prices. Now-adays it is next to impossible to obtain market quotations for even so short a time ahead as "next week."

Press rollers, which are made largely of glue, glycerine and molasses, have gone up, so manufacturers notified the consumers last week, 18 per cent. Glycerine—and the quality used in newspaper plants is not the pure white glycerine one buys in the drug stores, but a quality less refined—has taken one flying leap from antebellum price of 19 cents a pound to 54 cents.

Rags, which are being bought up by the powder manufacturers eagerly and are needed also by paper manufacturers in a cleaned and more or less sterilized form, are a necessity in the mechanical departments of newspapers. The price of rags has jumped just 100 per cent or from three cents a pound to six cents. Writing paper is an important item in a publisher's paper bill and it is worth noting that this item has gone up 25 per cent.

But it is when the consumer of anything having to do with dyes or any other department of the chemical section of printing and photographic reproduction goes out with his shopping list that his hair turns gray. Metal, which the art department of a paper cannot get along without, cost $4 a pound before the war. Now it costs $50 a pound. Increases of 1,000 to 3,000 per cent and more loom up all over the chemical section of the printing plant.

As an ink manufacturer explained a day or two ago the acids and dyes and everything else used in the colored inks especially exploded from 300 to 3,000 per cent in a jiffy, once the imports from Germany had been blocked. Blues that cost 58 cents before the war now cost $14 and $15 a pound, with increases in yellows also all the way up to 3,000 per cent. And, what is more of moment, the manufacturers of inks fear that prospects of filling demands in the future look doubtful.

Violet coloring, used in the manufacture of inks, printing paper and wall paper, has advanced from 60 cents a pound to $30 a pound, or an increase of 5,000 per cent.

Bulletins tell us that the limit has not yet been reached and that should the war cease tomorrow, it will require not less than two years for the supply to be made ample to bring the price to normal again.

BRAINERD'S OLDEST STORY OF TODAY

The chief of police, Henry Squires, presided at the sale of the effects seized at Joe Segott's soft drink place. The sale was held at the old hose house.

The dry spirit is evident in Brainerd. A keg of near beer went begging until some one bought it for 10 cents. Evidently nobody cares any more about beer, near beer or distant beer.

The ice box sold for $18.50.

The cash register brought $18.

A saloon mirror was bid in for $7.50, and a long beer bar sold for $1.50.

GOVERNOR BURNQUIST FILES

Minnesota Executive Is a Candidate for Re-Election.

St. Paul, May 2.—Governor J. A. A. Burnquist filed as a candidate for the Republican nomination for governor. He called personally at the office of the secretary of state, filed his affidavit and paid his $50 filing fee.

In a statement made Governor Burnquist said that he will not name a personal campaign committee, but will leave the management of his campaign to the volunteer committee of his friends, which has opened headquarters at the Merchants hotel, St. Paul, and consists of Senators Joseph A. Jackson and C. N. Orr, and Representatives J. B. Sanborn and A. E. Bjorklund.

Congressman Charles R. Davis of St. Peter filed for renomination on the Republican ticket in the Third district.

The Swiss System Military Training

NOTE—This is the second of a series of five articles by Shepherd dealing with the Swiss system of military training for citizens in its relation to the possibilities of a similar system in the United States.—Editor.

BY WILLIAM G. SHEPHERD (United Press Staff Correspondent.)

Berne, May 2.—A little blue book, Mr. American, with your name and your photograph and a score of facts about your life written in it, which you would carry in your pocket all the time, would be the token of the upheaval in American life which would be caused by the introduction of the Swiss military system, in its entirety, in the United States.

"Here's my book," said Luigi Corti, a storekeeper of Chiasso, who used to live in Texas.

"Every Swiss must carry his book with him. When I go to the bank I take it. When I go to a strange Swiss city I'm asked for it. I show it when I register at the hotel, when I draw money, when I send a telegram. My book shows how much military service I've done. If I neglected my duty my book will show it."

"Do you think Americans would like to have to carry books like that?" "Not the kind of Americans I used to know in Texas twenty years ago. Americans don't like their government to interfere with them," said Luigi. Luigi was in the American army during the Spanish-American war.

"This little book," he explained, "is issued by the federal government. Down in Texas the folks got along alright with the mayor and the policemen and the sheriff, but the minute you said 'United States Marshal' they picked up their ears."

"American folks don't like to be governed by Washington."

Luigi Corti had his Texas folks right. He had a lot of other Americans right, too. This little blue book would mean that you were tabbed and listed by the federal government. Some years ago this would have sounded more un-American than it does today, because in reality you are now tabbed and listed on the federal income rolls. But this little book of military service and citizenship would keep you in your niche, right under the eye of the federal military authorities, all the time.

If you left Chicago to live in Cleveland you would be forced to have your military book revised by the military commander of the city you were leaving and signed by the commander in the city to which you moved. A centralized government would have its grip on you. Even the Swiss, after eighteen months of war, are becoming restless under the central military control of Berne. In peace times the local commander is an officer chosen by the soldiers in the local troops; he is always a man from the neighborhood. But during the war his officers from Berne have gone to the various corners of Switzerland to take control and the independent Swiss citizens don't like it. Not any more than Americans in California would like to have an army officer from Washington come and rule their lives and actions. There have been half a dozen parliamentary quarrels in the Swiss congress within the last four months over this matter.

The little blue book, issued by the state government, wouldn't be an inconvenience. Americans in every district, to judge by the experience of the Swiss, would want to elect their own officers and be under the control of their own state government.

Any Swiss can tell you that to submit to any other arrangement is to upset the fundamental ideas on which both the United States and the Swiss federation was founded.

Military men in Switzerland want federal control.

The citizens want canton or state control. And when they don't have it they raise a row, that serves to ease up the federal pressure on them.

When Abstinence Was a Novelty.

Seventy years ago drinking was so common that, when a total abstainer applied to a London company for a life insurance policy, the board of directors held a special meeting to deal with the unprecedented case. They finally decided to insist on a special premium to cover the extra hazard, but the man upset their expectations by living to the age of eighty-two.—Youth's Companion.

A Note of Apprehension.

"Do you think your boy Josh will be satisfied to stay on the farm?" "Mebbe he'll be just as well if he isn't," commented Farmer Cornstossel. "The way he wants to run the place, if he is satisfied nobody else can be halfway comfortable."—Washington Star.

Second World Court Congress Meets

(By United Press)

New York, May 2.—The Second World Court Congress is to be held in New York city today, tomorrow and the next day, looking to the establishment of some arrangement that will not only provide an organization for the adjustment and judicial settlement of any international disputes that may arise, but will insure a lasting peace. The first World Court Congress was held in Cleveland, O., in 1915.

Every state in the union will be represented in New York city at this congress, as this project, backed by some of the most prominent and influential Americans is of general interest. The congress will make no attempt to stop the present war, but will try to prevent future wars.

Prohibition Will be Continued in Russia

(By United Press)

Petrograd, May 2.—Russia will continue "dry" after the war, so far as vodka is concerned. The limited sale of beer and light wines will be permitted. The bill for both prohibition and limitations has been introduced in the duma and its passage is assured. The czar and his advisors approve it. Finland is not included.

"It is forbidden to produce alcohol for vodka," says the bill, "or to import alcohol." Alcohol production for mechanical and medicinal purposes is authorized only by the government. Its sale, except by the government, is prohibited. The order against production will include individuals, even though their product be only for their own household consumption.

The sale of beer and light wines will be prohibited except in towns. Local councils may prohibit it altogether.

The government also will limit the percentage of alcohol in both beers and wines.

Assignment of Bishops

(By United Press)

Saratoga Springs, N. Y., May 2.—Just where the bishops will be assigned for the next four years is a subject of keen interest at the quadrennial session of the Methodist general conference here today.

Interest centers about who will be sent to Washington as successor to Bishop Cranston. Washington and New York are the most desired locations.

It is believed the Washington "plum" will go either to Bishop Luther B. Wilson of New York, or Bishop William Fraser McDowell of Chicago. Bishop Wilson, however, may be returned to New York where he has accomplished so much for Methodism, and Bishop McDowell may go to Washington. Dr. McDowell is vice chancellor of the Methodist University at the capital, and he is a close friend of Bishop Cranston.

If Bishop Wilson is not returned to New York, the next incumbent likely will be Bishop McDowell or Bishop Frank J. McConnell, now resident in Denver. Dr. McConnell was consecrated only four years ago. Until then he was pastor of New York Avenue church, Brooklyn.

CITY STARTS CLEAN UP WEEK

Team and Man Placed in Every Ward of Brainerd to Clean Up Rubbish

FAREWELL TO THE TIN CANS

Council Takes Action About City Dumps, Ordering it Clearly Designated

The council took hold of the "Clean Up, Paint Up" week of civic improvement with alacrity Monday evening and directed that City Engineer C. D. Peacock set to work a man and a team in each ward. John Larson and A. T. Fisher said they would furnish teams. Dr. J. A. Thabes said he would also supply one. Cans, etc., should be placed in boxes so as to be quickly emptied into the wagons.

Henry I. Cohen, president of the Chamber of Commerce, appealed to the council to remove the rubbish in West Brainerd. Such stuff allowed to remain there and to rot was not a suitable atmosphere for a Jefferson highway.

All members of the council were present except Alderman Andrew Anderson, who last Saturday was operated on for appendicitis.

Dr. J. A. Thabes also spoke of the condition of things in West Brainerd. Refuse had been dumped within 200 feet of the Northern Pacific railway hospital. Summer was coming with its pest of flies, disease carriers.

City Engineer C. D. Peacock said the dumping ground was not fenced. It should be clearly designated. Roads leading beyond the dump will be fenced so that but one road shall lead to the dump and no driver can go astray. The council ordered West Brainerd cleaned up, it being cheaper to load up and put on the proper dump than to dig holes to bury the refuse. On motion of Alderman Peterson proper signs are to be placed on the dump.

Alderman Iver Benson spoke on the desirability of having a light road grader. On motion of Alderman Betzold and Haake the street committee is to purchase such a grader.

Alderman Peterson reported on the complaint entered by A. L. Hoffman as to the damage done to his property caused by a district sewer in Southeast Brainerd. Alderman Peterson said no damage had been occasioned and recommended no action be taken, which was so voted.

City Engineer Peacock reported 15 cords of rock had been crushed. The engineer was ordered to crush the balance.

The motion carried to advertise for bids to pave with cement according to plans and specifications. Holly from Third to Fifth, Third street from Main to Holly, Broadway from Kingwood to Fir, Seventh street from Juniper to Fir, Sixth street from Front to the mill track, Laurel from Fifth to Seventh.

The petition for a lateral sewer in block 8, Sleeper's addition, was referred to the sewer committee and city engineer.

On motion of Aldermen Betzold and Peterson the city engineer was instructed to repair the sewer running through the ball park.

On motion, the motion that moving picture shows be closed on Sunday, was indefinitely tabled.

The engineer, on motion of Aldermen Benson and Koop, was directed to fence in the dumping ground. Bids on furnishing cement were opened. The bidders included John Larson, the Lakeside Lumber Co., the Mahlum Lumber Co., Winnor-Adams Co., the Lakeside Lumber Co. was successful at a net price of $1.76.

Bills allowed and ordered paid by the council were C. D. Peacock $155.56; J. Thomas $8.10; A. Peterson $3.96; Frank Wise $59.18; Wm. Thorpe $51.15; water and light board material and labor $36.00; water and light board current for lamp posts $67.19; Gregory Park $1.80; alleys, buildings and fire stations $24.50; are lamps $98.33; Central hose house $3.50; city hall $11.90; Brainerd Dispatch $4.84; Julius Reuter for care and board of George Blazer $20; Bert Finn, for board of Peter Bishop in April $12; Mrs. Emil Johnson for board and care of Mrs. Moberg $18; Dennis Forder, for board and care of Steve Sherman $25; O. Expert Advice For the Automobile Owner

Queries and Replies Covering Matters of Importance to the Man Who Runs a Car

How does horsepower, as applied in mechanics, compare with the horsepower of a horse? In other words, how do they measure horsepower?

The rate at which an engine does work is often measured in units called a horsepower, one horsepower being work done to the extent of thirty-three foot pounds per minute, supposed to represent the maximum rate at which work could be done by a horse. Work done by an engine may mean either of two things—namely, the total work done by the engine, or the effective work done by the engine. Both kinds of work are obtained by calculation. The total work is called the indicated horsepower. The useful or effective work is that which remains of the total work after a deduction has been made of the work necessary to overcome the frictional resistance due to bearings and other working parts. This useful work is called brake horsepower.

In measuring the indicated horsepower of a motor there are several factors to be considered—pressure on the piston in pounds per square inch, the area of the piston in square inches, the stroke in feet and number of strokes per minute. The product of these divided by 33,000 will give the indicated horsepower.

I have a friend who cleans carbon out with salt. He runs his engine two or three minutes to warm up, then removes the spark plugs and puts one and one-half normal salt tablets in each cylinder and then runs the car about fifteen miles. By that time there is no carbon remaining in engine or valves. Will the chemical action set up by the salt and heat do any damage to the cylinders?

While salt will burn off the carbon by chemical action due to the combination of salt and carbon into sodium carbonate, it is very likely that the combination of chlorine with the hydrogen in gasoline would form hydrochloric acid, which would tend to have an intense rusting action on the cylinders.

The clutch of my car is faced with some fabric, and for the past month I have been bothered by the clutch slipping. Will you kindly suggest a remedy? The car will stand in the middle of the street on high gear and not affect the running of the engine—that is, the clutch in high will not retard the engine to any appreciable degree, although it will hold on low and second, but better in the former.

There must be something radically wrong with the particular facing on that car and would suggest your having a new clutch facing applied. If this does not remedy the trouble there must be some interference with the clutch entering the flywheel as far as it should. Perhaps the clutch pedal is striking the floorboard, preventing it from engaging. It is very possible that heavy grease has leaked into the clutch housing and that the lining is more in need of thorough cleaning than anything else.

An unpleasant sound issues from the rear wheels of my car when traveling over twenty miles per hour, and I have found that there is a little play in one of the rear wheels. By play, I mean that when rear wheel is jacked it can be pushed in and out about one-eighth or one-fourth inch. The trouble I am sure is not beneath the hub cap, as I have tightened this nut, and I think that the differential itself must be adjusted. How can I adjust it so as to stop this ringing, grinding noise? Also, when taking off the cover of the differential I have found that the edges of teeth of the large gear have been chipped.

The lost motion in the rear axle appears to be due to worn thrust bearings. If the car will be examined by a competent mechanic it is quite certain to be noted that the differential thrust bearings are badly worn and need replacing.

This same reason may possibly be assigned to the noise about which you speak, although this may also be attributed to the condition of the ring gears and pinion. These should be examined at the same time that the thrust bearings are replaced and the differential overhauled.

After a motor is loosened from running the amount of oil required is considerably less than when the motor is new. For ordinary driving we recommend that the adjusting screw at the bottom of the pump be closed entirely and then opened three-quarters or seven-eighths of a turn. Of course if you undertake long trips or run the car under unusual conditions, such as through heavy mud and sand, more oil will be required and the adjusting screw should be opened accordingly.

Recently my car has been giving me quite a little trouble. The battery seems to be all right, but when I put my foot on the starting pedal it will not crank the motor. If I use the crank handle and turn the motor over about eight times and then use the starting pedal it works all right. Can you tell me the trouble?

It may be that there are some short circuits which drain the battery, or it may be that the generator is not charging properly. Be careful to keep the specific gravity of the electrolyte in accordance with the instructions of the battery maker.

When my throttle is at full retard it ordinarily permits enough gasoline to reach the engine to keep it running. Recently, however, my engine sometimes stops. Turning up the needle valve and allowing a little more gasoline to flow the engine would run all right throttled down even after the needle valve was returned to its original adjustment. What is the matter?

A number of solutions are possible. Your motor may not be running as well as it did formerly, with the result that it is more likely to stop when throttled down. It is also possible that the auxiliary air valve in the carburetor sticks occasionally, temporarily rendering the mixture inadequate. Valve trouble or any slight irregularity in operation frequently causes a motor to stop when turning over slowly. You should see that all of these points are checked up and also that the linkage between your throttle lever and carburetor is working properly; that there are no loose set screws permitting the lever to turn on the shaft, etc. Frequently a thorough cleaning and oiling will suffice.

Is thermo siphon cooling as efficient as the circulating pump?

Yes, if properly designed, though there are limitations to the size of the engine to which it is adaptable.

Running at twenty to twenty-five miles an hour over level road, should I retard the spark nearly all the way or move the lever only halfway down as compared with the throttle lever? Would I get the same power or would the engine consume more gasoline than if the spark lever was slightly ahead of the throttle? When should the spark be retarded?

Running over level roads your spark should be kept at nearly full advance, for using a late spark under these conditions and particularly when running from twenty to twenty-five miles per hour tends not only to reduce the power output of the motor and to increase to a surprising degree the amount of gasoline consumed per mile, but also to increase the likelihood of overheating. For ordinary running the best position for your spark lever is two-thirds of the way up the quadrant. The only times when the spark should be retarded are when the engine is laboring under a heavy load, when pulling through mud, mud or other heavy going, when going up a steep hill, which slows down the motor's speed, or when idling. An expert driver has almost perfect control over his car simply by his manipulation of the spark and throttle levers, and more attention would be given to this feature of car operation by many owners if they realized to what extent it promotes efficiency and economy.

Can a steering wheel be changed from stiff to adjustable rake, and how? The steering wheel itself cannot be changed, but you no doubt refer to the column or post, which can be lowered or raised to any desired position.

When I start my car in the morning I have to crank it for several minutes before it will start. There is also a small charge being furnished by the generator. As soon as the motor starts it will throw a good charge and then drop back to a charge of about five amperes. The connections all seem to be tight. The battery is in good condition, testing about 1.25 to 1.275. At night when the starter is turning the motor the lights become very dim and flicker all the time that the car is going. Can you give some advice?

From the information you have given, the trouble would seem to be in the cut-out relay. When the engine is started and the relay is working properly the generator begins building up its voltage until it gets to about six volts. Then a current passes through the voltage winding of the relay, and a magnetic pull is set up. This overcomes the tension of the spring, which has up to this time held the armature of the relay away from the core of the coil. When the magnetism draws the armature down to the core the contacts on the front of the relay are closed, the act of pulling the armature down serving to bring the points on the other end of the armature against the terminals of the relay. When these contacts are made the circuit between generator and battery are closed, and battery charging goes on until the generator voltage gets below that of the battery. Then the battery current flows out in the reverse direction, this going through the coarse wire winding of the relay. Instantly the magnetic pull ceases, and the spring pulls the armature away from the coil core and also away from the relay contacts, thus breaking the circuit. Obviously, if the relay does not work as it should the generator and battery will not cut in and out as they should, and the trouble is likely to develop as you have outlined.

Please give me the strongest solution to place just in the cylinder jacket, not in the radiator. Would I be do, and how long should it stand to loosen rust and corrosion?

The best way to remove the rust would be to take the cap from the top of the cylinder and scrub the rust from the water jacket space.

Former President is Not in the Habit of Allowing Any One to Make Political Announcements For Him, and What Acquaintances Say Is Merely Gossip—Cummins' Part In 1912.

ROOSEVELT MAY AID IOWA MAN

If Cummins Gets Nomination Colonel Might Support Him.

NO WORD FROM OYSTER BAY

Former President is Not in the Habit of Allowing Any One to Make Political Announcements For Him, and What Acquaintances Say Is Merely Gossip—Cummins' Part In 1912.

By ARTHUR W. DUNN.

Washington, May 2.—[Special.]—Will Roosevelt support Senator Cummins in case he fails to get the nomination himself? That query came in a recent discussion among a number of men interested in the coming national convention, and one of them said that he had been authorized to write Senator Cummins that Colonel Roosevelt would support him if the Iowa man was nominated.

As usual, no one is willing to go on record and have himself quoted as saying that Roosevelt has authorized anything in regard to the political situation this year. Roosevelt reserves the right to make his own political announcements, and also he is enjoying the speculation upon what he may do and what he may not do in regard to the Republican national convention and its nominee.

Cummins Might Be Acceptable.

It is easy enough to see why Cummins might be acceptable to Colonel Roosevelt, or at least he would not meet with objections that have been put forth in regard to a number of other men. Cummins was not one of those who participated in what Roosevelt termed the great convention robbery of 1912, when many delegates claimed for him were refused seats in the national convention.

The fact that two or three men who are now prominently mentioned in connection with the nomination were participants in the action which prevented Roosevelt from controlling the convention has been set up as one reason why the colonel will not give them support. Possibly he will run independently as the Progressive nominee if any of them is selected by the Republican convention.

Two Old Friends.

The agricultural appropriation bill would not be familiar or relished by congress unless it had the annual fight over the appropriation for free seeds. It is like the fight against the mileage paid to congress or the fight against the river and harbor bill and the public buildings bill in the house. A great many men oppose it, but nearly everybody hopes it will go through. And it always does.

The other is the fight on the forest reserves, but that is getting to be less and less important each year. Non-dell of Wyoming has made the principal fight, but he remarked when the forestry question was up this time that of late years he had taken but little time in the discussion on the subject, mainly because there had been a great improvement in the forestry service. However, the senate will discuss it at some length.

No Fear of a Standing Army.

Senator Nelson of Minnesota has no fear of a standing army. In a speech upon the military bill he quoted Maculnay as showing how Oliver Cromwell's army was merged into the citizenry of England. "Neither the Confederates nor the Union veterans who retired to civil life after the long and dreary war of the sixties were any menace to the country or the public," said the Minnesota senator.

Wisdom From Humphrey.

When the river and harbor bill was under discussion and after many flings had been made about pork barrel appropriations Congressman Humphrey of Washington had his say:

"The truth of it is that we are practically all alike. None of us are saints and none of us great sinners. My friend Callaway of Texas and my friend Towser of Iowa are much opposed to the river and harbor bill. To their eyes it is nothing but a pork barrel. But remember they do not have a river in their own districts sufficiently large in which to take a respectable bath."

"My friend Madden, from Chicago, thinks appropriations for great cities is a splendid thing, but for the small town it is all wrong. My friend Cullop, from Indiana, thinks that appropriations for rivers and harbors are all wrong, but an appropriation for a public building in his district is a good thing."

Then he closed with the following, which was received with applause: "If there is any man on either side of the aisle that has ever refused an appropriation for his district he ought to have his photograph taken, so that it might be placed in the gallery of the immortals."

Longworth's Uniform.

Colonel Roosevelt has only two daughters, but speaking of possible war he said that if a war did come he had four sons and two sons-in-law who would go to war. Members of congress joked Nick Longworth about it, and Nick remarked: "Well, I don't see how I can get out of it. I suppose the only thing for me to do is to bring my uniform down to the house every day and have it ready."

Sweet Strawberry Shortcake.

Three eggs, one cupful of sugar, two of flour, one tablespoonful of butter, a teaspoonful (cheap) of baking powder. Beat butter and sugar together and add the well beaten eggs. Stir in flour and baking powder, well stirred together. Bake in deep tin plate. This quantity will fill four plates. With three pints of strawberries mix a cupful of sugar and mash them a little. Spread the fruit between the layers. The top layer of berries may be covered with a meringue made with the white of an egg and a tablespoonful of powdered sugar. The largest berries may be arranged on the top of the cake in a circle.

A Garden Tip.

Do not let iris beds become too crowded, as crowded plants do not flower well. As a general rule iris should be dug up, divided and reset every three years. The best time to do this is just after the plants have flowered.

Medical Mistakes.

GLASS OF SALTS CLEANS KIDNEYS

If your Back is aching or Bladder bothers, drink lots of water and eat less meat.

When your kidneys hurt and your back feels sore, don't get scared and proceed to load your stomach with a lot of drugs that excite the kidneys and irritate the entire urinary tract. Keep your kidneys clean like you keep your bowels clean, by flushing them with a mild, harmless salts which removes the body's urinous waste and stimulates them to their normal activity. The function of the kidneys is to filter the blood. In 24 hours they strain from it 500 grains of acid and waste, so we can readily understand the vital importance of keeping the kidneys active.

Drink lots of water—you can't drink too much; also get from any pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast each morning for a few days and your kidneys will act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate clogged kidneys; also to neutralize the acids in urine so it no longer is a source of irritation, thus ending bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive; cannot injure; makes a delightful effervescent lithia-water drink which everyone should take now and then to keep their kidneys clean and active. Try this, also keep up the water drinking, and no doubt you will wonder what became of your kidney trouble and backache.

FINE JUDGE, WE CAME OUT AS A COMMITTEE TO TELL YOU HOW WE ALLENJOY W-B-CUT TOBACCO WITH A SALTY TASTE.

MEN who appreciate Quality are endorsing W-B CUT Chewing—the long shred Real Tobacco Chew—as the chew that really satisfies.

W-B CUT Chewing is rich tobacco, always the same good quality and a small chew takes the place of the inconvenient big wad of the ordinary kind. Remember, too, there's less spitting and grinding with W-B CUT Chewing.

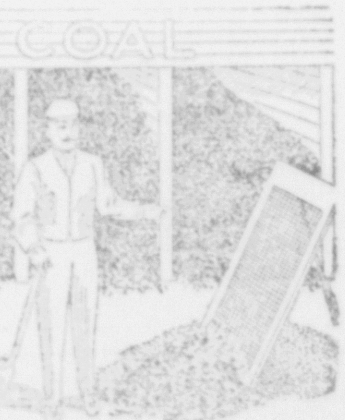

Give it a quality test. "Notice how the salt brings out the rich tobacco taste."
